Important to Intending Purchasers

WE take pleasure in submitting to our patrons and the public a choice selection of Peonies, Phloxes, Irises, which may be planted with best results in September, although if it be inconvenient to plant so early, the planting may be deferred until October without detriment.

So much interest has been manifested in these plants the last few years, that we have greatly enlarged our collections by securing at home and abroad the choicest varieties, and we can recommend them, assuring our patrons that they will give satisfaction.

In both the Fruit and Ornamental, as well as in the Rose Departments, our Nurseries are kept fully up to the times. We procure as soon as introduced every novelty that promises to be worthy of dissemination and carefully test it in our trial grounds, sending out only such introductions as prove meritorious.

Intending purchasers are requested to send for our General Catalogue of Fruit and Ornamental Trees, Flowering Shrubs, Hardy Roses, Perennials, beautifully illustrated and containing planting directions.

Grateful for the liberal patronage which we have enjoyed for upwards of seventy years, we solicit a continuance of the same.

ELLWANGER & BARRY,

July, 1912.

HERBACEOUS PEONIES

A noble flower, almost rivaling the Rose in brilliancy of color and perfection of bloom. In the severest climate the plants require no other protection than that which they afford themselves. Each succeeding year adds to their size and beauty. The foliage is rich and glossy and of a beautiful deep green color, thus rendering the plants very ornamental even when out of flower. No other flower is so well adapted for large, showy bouquets. The Peony may be planted either singly on the lawn or in borders. Where the lawn is extensive a large bed makes a grand show. It flowers early in June. Our collection has been made with great care and includes the best and most distinct varieties.

Varieties priced per each only, are net and can be furnished in limited quantities. Not less than five of a variety will be sold at ten rate.

HARDY PHLOXES

Are of vigorous habit, easy culture and produce in great profusion, during a long season, flowers of fine form and substance and of bright and varied colors. As regards their culture, it may be briefly stated that they succeed in any good garden soil, but they are greatly improved by being liberally manured, and an occasional supply of liquid manure during the growing season will greatly increase the size of their trusses. When in flower they should be watered freely every evening. The Phlox usually flowers in July and August, and in order to render it autumnal flowering, it is necessary to pinch the shoots about the first of June and again in July. The plants will then flower in September. For early flowers some of the plants may be left unpinched. When two years old the finest trusses are produced. The third year the plants flower tolerably well; but they will not keep thrifty and healthy after that. The old plants should then be lifted in the fall, divided and transplanted. But the better plan is to keep up a succession of young plants from cuttings by securing a fresh collection every year. We annually introduce all new and desirable varieties of home and foreign production. The best time to plant them is in the autumn. Our plants are large and fine.
